

DR GABBY CUDJOE WILKES

BIO

Rev. Dr. Gabby Cudjoe Wilkes is a public theologian, author, and innovation strategist redefining how faith, media, and culture shape the public square. As Director of the Technology, Innovation & Digital Engagement Lab at Union Theological Seminary and founding co-lead pastor of The Double Love Experience Church in Brooklyn, she stands at the forefront of a new era of spiritual leadership. Dr. Gabby is the co-author of the best-selling book, Psalms for Black Lives: Reflections for the Work of Liberation and a national voice on how theology can inform justice, creativity, and community building. Her work has been featured in Essence, Forbes, The New York Times, and PBS's GOSPEL with Henry Louis Gates Jr.

A graduate of Duke, Yale, NYU, and Hampton University, Dr. Gabby embodies transformative, justice-centered leadership rooted in love and imagination. She is a proud member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, the Board President of Yale Divinity School Alumni Association, a member of the prestigious Morehouse College MLK Board of Preachers and the Chaplain for the North Atlantic Chapter of the Hampton University Alumni Association.
